"THE HEAVY DATE"

Release No. 1857.

A Life Cartoon Comedy.

While Mike is dolling up for a heavy date, Little Nibbins is out riding on his pet cat. Not only is Nibbins having a great time but some twenty of the cat's friends are enjoying themselves by tagging along behind his Nibs' scooter kitten. Mike takes along his pet guitar and uses it for a bike by turning it inside out. Nibbins is told to stay at home, but the youngster follows him with all his catty friends.

Arriving at a chasm in the road, Mike tries to speed across on his bike but tumbles down many thousand feet into the canyon. Nibbins, following closely on his heels, and his cat pets hold out a make-shift blanket for a life net to catch him. But they fail in their effort. Myrtle, the girl friend, is petting her little dog, and primping for our hero.

Mike finds that the high balcony on which Myrtle is seated is not conducive to love making. His guitar playing thrills Myrtle, and this prompts him to devise some means of reaching his beloved one. He enlists the aid of Nibbin's cat friends. They stand back upon back but even then Mike fails to reach his sweetheart. So he brings out Myrtle's pet dog, who frightens the cats so much that their backs raise up. This additional height enables Mike to reach and kiss the beautiful Myrtle.
